Political Pot

A Democratic trend is evidenced at Davis' store in Narberth, where five gross of penny donkeys with strings for children to wear were snapped up so fast Gene had to order more in a hurry. However, eight gross of elephants were sold at the same time.

Republicans are expecting a crowd of 15,000 to hear Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Saturday afternoon, October 17, at 2 o'clock at Willow Grove Park. Organizations of nine counties are sponsoring this Landon-Knox rally. Peter C. Hess, township treasurer, is on the arrangements committee.

J. Hansell French, State Secretary of Agriculture, says Republican plurality in Montgomery County this coming election will be cut to 8000. Congressman J. William Ditter says G. O. P. margin will increase to 50,000. Probably will be somewhere between, not necessarily midway.

Next Wednesday night the Republican Citizens' Committee formally will open the Main Line Republican headquarters at Lancaster avenue and Church road, Ardmore.

Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, sister of Senator Guffey, last night was scheduled to address the county Women's Democratic Committee at Norristown.

Political "Tell You Teas," a series of Conference Teas, will be held on Wednesday afternoons until Election Day at the Hannah Penn House in Philadelphia. Your questions will be answered by experts from G. O. P. headquarters. The committee in charge include Mrs. George Dallas Dixon, Mrs. Robert Sewell and Mrs. Joseph W. Beacham, Jr.

Firemen's Sunday Disturbed

Sunday was a busy day for Narberth's fire company. At 11 A. M. the firemen put out a blaze at the home of Clarence Smith, 310 Essex avenue, where chimney sparks set fire to the roof causing damage of $100. In the evening they were called to the home of C. H. Wheeler, Jr., 701 S. Bowman avenue, Merion, where an ironing board was ablaze.

4 Boro Youths Pledged

Three Narberth youths have been pledged to fraternities at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster.

David Bodke and Joseph King have been pledged to the Xi chapter of Phi Kappa Tau.

Justin R. Peters has been pledged to the Nu chapter of the Sigma Pi.

Donald Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh G. Martin, of 207 Wayne avenue, is pledged to the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity at Lehigh University, Bethlehem.

Dogs Hate to Part With Pals at School

I wouldn't give much for a boy that grew up with no friendship existing 'twixt him and a pup. —Old Verse.

But apparently these friendships can be carried too far, especially by the canines.

William J. Drennan, principal of the Narberth Public School, has requested that parents whose children have dogs for pets, kindly keep the latter at home.

Several dogs are accompanying pupils to the school. Some of them wait outside the door; others go right inside. Presence of the animals is not good for maintaining discipline in classrooms, Mr. Drennan avers.

Co-Operative Buying Club Elects Officers

Dr. Forrest Comfort Heads Group; Wholesale Plan Approved

REPORTS 7 P. C. PROFIT

The Narberth Co-operative Club met at the home of Mrs. Rollin Sidwell, 115 Chestnut avenue, Monday evening and chose the following officers for the ensuing year:

President—Dr. Forrest Comfort, 108 Chestnut avenue.

Vice-President—Mr. William Sargent, 124 Chestnut avenue.

Secretary—Mrs. Wm. N. Loucks, 219 Dudley avenue.

Treasurer—Miss Ellen Brinton, 127 Merion avenue.

The treasurer's report showed that the business transacted by the club for the quarter just ended amounted to $231.70, on which a profit of approximately 7% had been realized.

The admitted weakness of co-operative activity in the Philadelphia area is inadequate wholesale privileges. Therefore, the announcement of the plan to organize a Mid-Atlantic Co-operative Wholesale, with headquarters in Philadelphia, was enthusiastically received and a share of stock in the proposed wholesale was ordered purchased.

Upon the recommendation of the officers it was decided to make the meetings in the future more educational in character, permitting the routine details of business to be conducted by the Executive Committee.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held Monday evening, November 2, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Sargent, 124 Chestnut avenue.

General Wayne Republican Campaign Rally October 23

The Landon-Knox campaign in General Wayne election district will start with a rally in the gymnasium of the Montgomery Day School, Old Gulph road, Penn Valley, at 8 P. M., Friday, October 23. Prominent speakers, to be announced later, will give short addresses, their total limited to one hour or less. Following, refreshments will be served.

The committee, which extends a cordial invitation to all voters in General Wayne district, consists of A. D. Blair, chairman; Jean S. Allen, Mrs. Alice Altis, Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Banks, Mrs. Gibson Bell, John Boardman, Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell, Mrs. Florence Carter, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Cavanaugh, Mr. and Mrs. W. Morgan Churchman, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Clausen, Mrs. Ann Darville, Charles S. Edmunds, Walter Fuller, Mrs. C. Arley Farmer, Mrs. W. Russell Green, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Harnden, John H. Jeffries, Jr., Mrs. J. D. Justin, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Link, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. George C. T. Remington, Spencer Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Skillman, Jr., Owen D. Schmidt, James P. Smyth, Maurice W. Sloan, Jr., and Frederick Warner.

Friends' Central School, Overbrook, will hold its eighth annual Autumn Fair this week-end in the gymnasium. A display of summer hobbies will be a feature. Hours are Friday, 3 to 9 P. M.; Saturday and Sunday, 2:30 to 5 and 7 to 9 P. M.

Committee Furthers Plans for Narberth's Mardi Gras

Plans were furthered for Narberth's annual Mardi Gras at a Business Council Committee meeting called Monday evening at the Areadia Restaurant by Marios Chios, chairman.

It was arranged to hang a sign announcing the event on the Narberth Playground entrance and sub-committees were appointed to supervise music, platform, route, collection of prizes and other details.

Again this year the co-operation of the Narberth Fire Company will be sought for roping off part of Haverford avenue for dancing, while Burgess John E. Hall, the Lower Merion police and other officials will be asked to aid in making the affair a success.

Two New Roofs

Narberth Building Inspector George B. Suplee has issued permits for new roofs to Mrs. Charles Borden, 217 Forest avenue, $350, and to Mrs. John Van Deaver, 127 Conway avenue, $100.

Missionary Speaker Here

The Rev. Kenneth M. Kepler, a Presbyterian missionary at Tientsin, Shantung, China, is scheduled to speak at the Narberth Presbyterian Church, October 21.

Posing as Pastor, Grifter in Boro Gets Radio and Twenty-two Dollars

(By TOM ELWOOD)

Slickest grifting the Main Line has seen in some time has just taken place twice in Narberth. The Lower Merion police know about it, but according to the victims have been keeping it secret.

So if you are a storekeeper, beware of a tall, thin man with brown eyes and sharp teeth and nose. He's dressed in brown, at present, and he telephones your store that he is a local minister, and he is not averse to signing your minister's name to a check, and borrowing a radio from your store for a church entertainment—and forgetting to return it.

Early in May the man borrowed, for what he claimed was a play in the Narberth Presbyterian Church, a $39.95 radio from Walter Case of the Narberth Electric and Radio Shop. He generously offered to insert free of charge an ad for Mr. Case in the play program, to compensate for the loan. There was no play, no program—and no radio returned.

Case did not inform the other business people, thinking that a warning to the Lower Merion police would serve to safeguard their interests.

Tuesday of this week, the above-described man phoned Mrs. George Albert, of the Majestic Electric Shop in Narberth, and represented himself as the Rev. W. V. Middleton, minister of the Narberth Methodist Church. He needed a radio in a hurry, for a church play, and would send down for it, paying with a check.

Mrs. Albert and her husband did not know of the previous somewhat parallel episode. They had not been informed by the police, nor had the police asked the newspapers to publish a general warning. So the grifter got a radio for $18 and took it away, along with $22 cash, after presenting a $40 check endorsed in a fake backhand by "Rev. W. J. Middleton, D.D.," and made payable to Mr. Middleton by a "Lucille W. Chambers," who signed "herself" secretary.

PAUL L. GILL DIRECTOR

For six winters the attic of the Shull Lumber Company in Bala-Cynwyd has been a meeting place for hobby artists from various walks of life. Mr. Gill, a resident of Wynnewood, has won for himself an enviable place in the art world. He is a graduate from the Pennsylvania Academy and has studied in various important centers of Europe. ## Brookline Beats Boro to Knot Series Count

Game Sunday to Decide Main Line League Championship

DAVISMEN LOSE 7 TO 6

By JOHN MULLIGAN

Main Line Baseball League history will be written on Sunday when Narberth meets Brookline here in the fifth and deciding game of their "Little World Series."

For the first time in three years Gene Davis' boys are forced to play all of the series games to crown a champion. It will be remembered that the Davismen swept three games straight from Berwyn in 1934 and how they walloped Brookline thrice in a row last year.

Eddie Hare's gang sent the playoff warfare to the limit last Sunday by nosing out the townsmen by 7-6 figures in a throbbing fray waged, of course, on the losers' diamond. The first-half champions accomplished their purpose by getting out front with a commanding lead and then holding off the determined boroughites who came on strong with a sensational last-ditch rally which all but tied the count in the ninth.

Reynolds Solved

The magic of Bill Reynolds' pitching went for naught in his third start for Narberth. Twice a conqueror of Brookline and by the shutout route, Reynolds found the going rocky last week-end. He finally was yanked in the sixth after Sammy Schaeffer had poled a homer with the bases loaded to give Brookline what appeared to be a safe lead. Reynolds' control was spotty and he was in trouble throughout, yet some of it was due to the team's weakening on defense. He failed to strike out a single batter, walked three and gave up 11 safeties.

Herrmann turned in a nice piece of pinch-hitting while George Severn, tossing 'em over for the visitors,

In the Mailbag

Concerning the Rotary Talk
October 5, 1936.

To the editor of OUR TOWN:

There has been enough said about what you printed of the Rotary talk to warrant a bit of further elucidation.

The reference to Borough Council engaging itself exclusively in what I described as the "corned-beef-and-cabbage" part of our civic existence, i. e., the indispensable features of municipal procedure, was hardly intended to be severe on those selfless citizens, who are elected to serve us in an administrative capacity and who are entitled to respectful recognition and proper appreciation for the time and talent they expend in our behalf.

The point which was being stressed was, that if the populace wanted the public purse used for the luxuries of community life, the "dessert" which might otherwise be dispensed with, such things would only come to pass as a result of initiative from outside the Council Chamber, as it has been plain for twenty years that our solons do not regard it as any part of their job to devise or submit plans calling for special and extra disbursements.

Of course, there can be an argument as to whether or not the established way is the best or most constructive attitude to strike in a thriving home-place such as ours, but nothing like that was on the fire at Rotary, and no voice did I give to the difficulty which is experienced at times in comprehending how such deeply interested men can be content so steadfastly with observing what seems to be an undeviating and unimaginative routine.

Nevertheless, there is ample reason to know that Council is alert and always receptive to public preference and that it will provide, as it has done in the case of the Playground, streets and other projects, the machinery of referendum to enable the voters to decide whether or not they are willing to foot the bills for the improvements which are advanced for consideration.

Therefore, if there is any fair degree of unanimity that Narberth will be a more attractive and more valuable place with a self-sustaining public pool, and with a comprehensive building plan replacing the present shambles called our Station, a citizens' committee should get underway for a full exploration of the facts of the case; or an appointment of such a committee by the burgess might be the progressive manner in which the survey can best be started.

There is said to be a Federal appropriation of $60,000 available for a new postoffice in Narberth and what a nucleus that would provide for the general program which has been suggested and which should not cost more than a two-mill tax for everything involved, pool, depot and the rest of it, without reference to the additional taxables which would be created. The proposed tunnel at Essex avenue is no part of the new idea and there seems to be valid reasons for dropping that feature altogether.

What interest is there in the subject and who will write to say that they will lend a hand in the spade work which must be done?

One more thing, if you please, Mr. Editor, and I'll be through. Some friends have reported their minister, in his sermon last Sunday, was perturbed by the fact that I had expressed pleasure because Narberth had changed from a "dry" to a "wet" community. Well, I felt that was a Christian and civilized thing for Narberth to do and so I said I was glad. The minister reporting the same facts might have said he was sad, which would have been quite all right with me, of course, despite the fact that I am one of those incorrigibles who would continue to believe that Prohibition was a very bad and immoral thing even if it worked, which it never did and never could.

In gentler tone, however, I would explain that the reference to the wet-and-dry status was simply one of the rather numerous aspects of our community scheme which I outlined in the very sketchy talk at the golf club, and it was not intended that it should cause me to be at odds with either the Council or the Cloth, a posture of affairs which I would certainly not desire at all, at all.

J. J. CABREY.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira T. Walker, of Winding way, Merion, will leave this Friday to spend the week-end in New Haven, Conn., and attend the Penn-Yale football game Saturday.

The opening meeting of the Tuesday Club will be held October 20 with a luncheon at the home of the president, Mrs. Frank B. Allen, of Flat Rock, road, Penn Valley.

That's My Story

A Study in Contrasts

Get to know, as I do, intimately, the lives of dozens of residents of a community and you can form a fair idea of how environment affects character. In a pleasure resort, unless the natives be of the more inhibited New England Puritanical stock, you find the year-round dwellers influenced sadly in their behavior by the free-spending, fast-living vacation conduct of the visitors. The influence is so profound that I should hesitate to rear my children in the average pleasure resort.

That is one reason I prefer to live on the Main Line. And yet the Main Line itself presents an unwholesome contrast, which may some day force me to seek an inferior community for my home. Why the paradox? Simply this:

Resort residents have average incomes, and by keeping up with the visiting Joneses they frequently bankrupt themselves morally as well as otherwise. The small minority of residents of our Main Line community are in the same boat. Their income is a little better than the national average—but they and their children will nigh inevitably try to keep up with the Joneses who are their year-round neighbors. They pay taxes on properties valued far higher than the national average; they pay higher utility bills and labor and food and other material bills; they feel underprivileged without a car and the wherewithal to go places and to do things with the Joneses and their children. Yet in another community—such as most in the United States—such as, for example, Norristown, right in this county—they could live better than the average and feel for themselves and their children no deadly inferiority complex whatever. The person with an income of five thousand a year or so, sending a child to private school and college, would be not "one of us," but "that wealthy Jones person."

All right, why don't these people go find such a town? Because they serve you. They are the young men who join the Lower Merion police force; they are the small shopkeeper, the mechanic, the mail carrier, the community newspaper editor, the assistant to your church's rector or minister. They are tied here by force of circumstance, usually family connections. They are reasonably happy, of course. But sometimes their children feel at a loss compared with your children, because their clothing is not so smart and because their family cars are not so sleek. And when the boys grow up, they sometimes feel mal-adjusted because their classmates are marrying your lovely daughters, and they—well, quite frequently an underprivileged boy marries a fine wealthy girl and everything's lovely, but usually it's not so easy as the sentimental story-books have it. More likely the boy marries a girl whose folks are of the same moderate financial standing, and that's fine, too. But there's always present the feeling that it would be nice if they could enjoy the good times that the Joneses a couple of blocks up the street are able to enjoy.

And so, just as in a city's slums, the riffraff commence their life of crime by taking what others have, in our suburbs many of the average class finds it difficult to be satisfied when neighbors have more. Those I've termed your servants, and also those who live here but have insufficiently remunerative employment in Philadelphia, are equally in danger of living beyond their means, and bankrupting themselves, morally as well as otherwise, like the resort-dwellers I've mentioned.

And for concrete examples we have the police force. Fine young men, of better than average parentage, these officers attended Lower Merion schools with the children of you or your neighbors; they've chummed with your kids; they share their interests in things—including spending money on the good things of life (and some of the not-so-good things). They marry girls who feel the same way about having a good time. BUT they can't afford it on what we pay them. And so it's hard to keep the police force contented, alert, efficient and incorruptible (especially when it is some of us who have occasion to do the corrupting). Our police, I believe, are as good as the national average. But that is far short of perfection.

What's to be done? In the nature of things, you can't pay all these public servants a lot more. Neither can you ship them off to Siberia (or Norristown) and shift for yourselves. But if you set out to understand the problem, of which this study in contrasts is one fundamental cause—then a solution, if any, will be a little easier to arrive at.

TOM ELWOOD.

Local Movies

Tuneful Musical Hits
Scheduled for Narberth

Lovely and lyrical Alice Faye and suave Adolphe Menjou are co-starred in "Sing Baby Sing," current attraction at the Narberth Theatre. It's said to be funnier than "Thanks a Million."

Monday and Tuesday at the Narberth will be Bing Crosby, still tops among the crooners, with Bob Burns, the Arkansas traveler, in "Rhythm on the Range." Wit and melody share honors in this romance of the cactus belt.

Glenda Farrell in "High Tension," an exciting melodrama, will be the feature Wednesday (Cash Award Night).

And next Thursday, Friday and Saturday Manager Salasin will present one of the most talked-of pictures of the year, "Girls' Dormitory," with the new 19-year-old French star, Simone Simon.

Starless All-Star Film at Egyptian; Two Special Matinees Early Next Week

"I've got an all-star film without an all-star cast," says Showman Joseph Conway, referring to "Three Cheers for Love," now playing at the Egyptian. It's only well-known star is Eleanore Whitney, world's best woman tap dancer. The swift-moving musical comedy drama is one of the sensations of the season. The program accompanying it includes comedies featuring Edgar Kennedy and Popeye, the sailor guy.

Two films children of all ages will enjoy are coming next week to Cynwyd: "Little Miss Nobody," Monday and Tuesday, stars Jane Withers and Ralph Morgan; and Jack London's "White Fang," Wednesday and (Bank Night) Thursday, is a sequel to "Call of the Wild," starring Michael Whalen, Jean Muir, Slim Summerville and Charles Winninger (radio's "Cap'n Henry").

There will be an after-school matinee for each picture—on Monday and again Wednesday afternoon. Needless to say, both films are highly recommended for the entire family.

A sophisticated film will conclude the week—"My American Wife"—termed the laugh successor to "Rugles of Red Gap." Its stars are Francis Lederer, Ann Sothern, Fred Stone and Billie Burke.

County League in Session

Choral-Organ Program at Bala-Cynwyd Church

Nathaniel E. Watson and Dr. Herbert J. Tily Are Organists

8.30 P. M., OCTOBER 14TH

A variety of interesting choral and organ works will be heard at 8.30 o'clock, Wednesday evening in Bala-Cynwyd M. E. Church, Cynwyd, when the church choir will be hosts to the Choral Club of the Musical Art Society, of which Dr. Henry S. Fry is conductor.

The program will open with two organ solos, Introdutione ed Allegro, from Pietro Yon's Sonata Romantica, and a Folk Tune by Percy Whitlock, played by Howard S. Tussey, organist and choirmaster of the church.

The first group by the Choral Club will be composed of the following a capella and accompanied numbers:

Let Their Celestial Concerts All Unite, Handel.

Hospodi Pomilui, Lvovsky.

O Morn of Beauty, Sibelius.

Lightly, Lightly, Bells are Pealing, Moravian-Lockwood.

Soprano solo by Marion H. Owrid.

All Breathing Life, Sing and Praise Ye the Lord, Bach.

Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring, Bach.

Nathaniel E. Watson, of Cynwyd, organist and choirmaster of the St. James' Methodist Church in Olney, will follow with a group of organ solos including the Allegro movement from Guilman's Third Sonata, Batsista's Offertoire in D Minor, and Ralph Kinder's In Moonlight, after which the Choral Club will give a rendition of Gounod's dramatic work, By Babylon's Wave, with accompaniment of organ and piano.

This will be followed by two works, O My People, da Vittoria, and An Easter Hallelujah, Vulpius-Dickinson, rendered antiphonally between the club and the choir of the church, the latter singing from the gallery.

Dr. Herbert J. Tily will be represented in his own setting of the immortal verse, Crossing the Bar. A beautiful humming song without words suggesting a typical Skye scene at nightfall will precede the closing number, an imposing work by Gustav Holst, built on the traditional theme, Ye Watchers Are Ye Holy Ones, to the words of the 149th Psalm.

Admission will be by card until 8.15. Cards may be secured without charge from members of the choir or from the minister, Rev. Franklin R. Duncombe, Levering Mill road, Cynwyd.

Brookline Beats Boro to Knot Series Count

hurled his third tidy game. The difference was that he got credit for victory in this one. Narberth found him for nine blows and socked him pretty hard in the late innings.

Working out front to a big lead the Haremen had to fight like tigers to hold off the Davismen. The tying run was on second base when Joey Burns whiffed to end the game. It was a tickling position for Eddie Hare and a cause for frenzy as far as the 1500 fans were concerned.

Brookline scored a single run in the first and got two in its fourth, then collected four in the sixth when they appeared to have the game stored away in camphor. But Narberth came back with a rush that put the fans in an uproar.

Narberth Spurts

After getting one in its fourth, Narberth scored twice in the stretch inning and just missed tying the count with its belated splurge in the final chapter.

Reynolds helped to settle his own fate when he hit Bill Vliet, Brookline backstopper, in the sixth. Severn dropped a sacrifice bunt and was safe when Reynolds tossed wild to first base. Georgie Gallagher dumped a bunt and Burns threw it away on an attempted assist to first, Vliet scoring. Jack McNally then sacrificed the runners around and when Fred Lucas drew a walk the bases were saturated.

Then Sammy Schaeffer, husky rightfielder, stepped up to the pentagon. He blasted a Reynolds' pitch in a scorching drive to right that cleaned the bases and was good for three. That marked the end for Fidgety Bill. Herrmann retired the side without further headaches.

In Narberth's ninth Joel Rubincam, batting for Harry Ralston, socked a one-bagger to right and Johnny Brennan waited out the wobbly Severn for a walk. George Gazella went up to hit for Jack Eachus and promptly poled a triple to the road in left-center. Herrmann rolled out to second and Gazella scored on Mickey Gavin's fly to center.

Fans in Frenzy

Narberth rooters were wild when Tanny Ralston rapped one to first which Claude Bailey could not handle and went on to second when the big infielder threw wild to Severn in a desperate attempt to make the assist. However, Burns went down swinging to end the game.

Fred (Fritz) Lucas, former Phillies outfielder, led the Brookline gang at bat, whacking a double and brace of singles. Bud Walker and Brennan shared batting honors for the borough. Brennan crashed a triple and double while Walker had a three-bagger and a single.

Lower Merion Building at Six-Year High Peak

Lower Merion's building construction for the first nine months has exceeded by far the full-year totals for any of the past five years.

With the figure now standing at $2,882,925, of which valuations of $377,325 in permits were issued in September, 1936 will not fall far short of the more than four-million-dollar building year of 1930.

During last month Building Superintendent C. E. Rahn reports 23 permits for single family dwellings were issued at an estimated cost of $313,959. Other permits were for equipment, alterations and one business building.

Yarn Shop Opens

Mrs. Mildred Grammer, with Helen Greenwood for partner, has opened an attractive yarn and hosiery shop at 122 Bala avenue, opposite the Egyptian. She will have an interesting line of notions and hand-knit children's suits, sweaters, etc.

Merry-Go-Round for Dog and Cat Clinic

Project, Referred to Health Board by Commissioners Reaches Committee

Lower Merion's proposed free dog and cat clinic in the township pound, is now in the hands of the Sanitation Committee of the Board of Health.

The proposal, sponsored by the Animal Owners' Protective Association of Pennsylvania of which Magistrate Franklin P. Kromer, of Cynwyd, is president, was rejected by the Township Commissioners last month and referred to the Board of Health. The latter body expects a report on the clinic from the committee chairman, Dr. Richard A. Kern, next month.

At the Board of Health meeting Monday, Dr. William P. Belk, Ardmore, was installed as a new member and appointed to committees.

Dr. David Wilbur Horn, township chemist, reported the drinking water satisfactory.

For the month Health Officer Marvin E. Reynolds reported 15 cases of contagion including five of scarlet fever, all in Ardmore, and two cases of infantile paralysis, one in West Manayunk, one in Haverford. Both latter children are in Bryn Mawr Hospital.

The casual remark to be heard along Rialto these days is to the effect that Lower Merion has a mediocre football team. That idea is born, of course, from the fact that the Maroon team has lost the first two combats of the current year, but it is a false premise indeed. If Franklin and Marshall College lost a game to Notre Dame and topped that with another loss the following week to Pittsburgh University, there might be a few who would contend that F. and M. had a poor team. Not so, however, if she completed the rest of the season in her own class and won a majority of the games played.

Normally Lower Merion is superior to either Penn Charter or Easton, but each of those schools has a veteran team this year and outweigh the local ensemble all along the line, and quite noticeably in the backfield positions. Along the same idea, Al Adam's squad is inexperienced as a team and most of the players have only taken part in a few varsity get-togethers.

We called the turn on both of those defeats, and after seeing the general improvement of all the players we are ready to switch to the other side now. Abington is the enemy tomorrow, and though the York road boys are always at their best against the Bulldogs, we feel that Coach Adam is ready for a string of victories and Abington will be the first to fall.

The fine playing of Miller and Roberts in the backfield last Saturday gives encouragement. Adam will not be at a loss to locate a good starting backfield for the rest of the season, for either of these lads may get loose for long gains at any stage of the game.

Easton, with "Beef" Prime as the main threat, was lucky to walk off the field the victor last week-end. On form they should have defeated the visitors by two or three touchdowns, but the alert play of the locals kept them very much in the game throughout the forty-eight minutes of play.

The coaches feel very much pleased with the team's improvement, and if there are no injuries look forward to seeing the Maroon go through their suburban rivals without a hitch.

Dick Mattis' Junior High eleven walked over the Abington Junior High outfit last Friday on Penny-packer Field to the tune of 26 to 0. It was the Orange and Black's first encounter of the season and there was little to base predictions on. Every letter man from last season with one exception had graduated to the Senior High School. The team showed up very well, playing sound football and featuring Arthur Green, a dusky lad from Bryn Mawr, who ran wild to score the first two touchdowns. His running mate, George McDonald, a well-built lad from Merion, surprised the gathering with some fancy open-field ball carrying.

Even with a green squad to use this season, Coach Mattis and his boys will very likely keep alive the record made in the past. No junior high football team has defeated Lower Merion on the gridiron since Coach Mattis took over the job seven years ago. Quite a record indeed.

Penn at Yale tomorrow. Probably the most important game in the East this week-end. It will show just what we may expect from the Red and Blue this season. Our best wishes and hopes are with Harvey Harman.

Posing as Pastor, Grifter in Boro Gets Radio, $22

treasurer of something in the church, and had "Church Play" marked on the check to designate a special fund. Albert's mental processes followed through, after the pseudo-messenger had left with the money, and before delivering the radio he tried to cash the check at the Narberth bank, where it was found to be in every respect a fake.

Then Mrs. Albert phoned the Lower Merion police. The Ardmore headquarters man heard her story and laughed. He told her the same smart trick had been pulled on Walter Case four months ago. And he cheerfully promised to see what could be done.

The police have not released the story to the papers yet, because they don't want the man to become suspicious. They are warning the radio shops to watch for him. But this paper thinks it a good idea to let all the local business people, who are protected by the Lower Merion police, get suspicious of the tall, thin stranger. He may tire of radios. There are other commodities.

Main Lines

When three Harrisburg youths jumped off a freight train at Narberth station last Friday they told Lower Merion police their companion, Charles Leroy Beers, 24, also of Harrisburg, had fallen under the train at Berwyn. His mangled body was later found. . . . William N. Zinser, travel tour official, found dead after the blast in Penn Wynne Sunday, died of carbon monoxide gas, according to autopsy physicians, and Lower Merion police believe he was a suicide. William H. Katz, Philadelphia bank official, brother-in-law of Zinser and owner of the ruined home, doubts the suicide theory, asserting Zinser had no motive.

Main Line telephones increased by 575 since last January, by 325 in September. Total is now 23,316. . . . The price of gas was cut two cents by independent dealers this week.

The Political Pot

Substation No. 7 of the Volunteers has been established in Bala-Cynwyd at the home of Harry W. Donaghy, 6 Lodges lane. The Volunteers, a patriotic rather than a political organization, so its officers say, is for Landon and Knox.

This week six Volunteer Stations were opened in Narberth. They are: No. 28, Durbin and Howard, Station Circle; No. 29, Paul K. Thomas, 104 Essex avenue; No. 30, Mrs. Ada Miller, Essex and Merion avenues; No. 31, Andrew King, 713 Montgomery avenue; No. 32, Mrs. Bessie Ezickson, Narberth and Windsor avenues; No. 33, Miss Mary M. Laffen, 5 Schiller avenues. Guy Croyle selected the stations and their captains.

In Merion, Station 44 is conducted by Charles Marshall; 45 by Miss Leonora Mulkin, Sycamore avenue.

Ralph Beaver Strassburger, Norristown publisher and Republican delegate to last June's convention, is changing his mind again, announced his Norristown Times-Herald would publish "all" the political news, and has given Walter A. (Dipper) Wilson, his editor and the county Republican Committee's treasurer, an indefinite leave of absence. Chief political comment is "So what?"

William Washburn Baird

William Washburn Baird, 60, of 321 North Narberth avenue, Narberth, was fatally stricken with a heart attack while on his way to a bank Tuesday on West York street, Philadelphia. Friends hastened to his aid as he collapsed, but he died while being taken to the Stetson Hospital.

Mr. Baird, who was associated with Vail Brothers, wholesale toilet articles, Philadelphia, was well known as an amateur artist and nature lover. He was a member of the Narberth Players and had lived in Bala-Cynwyd and later in Narberth for about ten years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Bertha F. Baird, and a daughter, Frances. Two sisters, Pauline Baird, of St. Johns, Canada, and Blossom Baird, of London England, also survive.

Amelia Alexander Simons

Mrs. Amelia Alexander Simons, 54, who died after a brief illness at her home, 1239 Remington road, Wynnewood, last Sunday, survived her late husband, Laird Hardecastle Simons, by exactly four months. Mr. Simons, president of the William Amer Company, Philadelphia, tanners, died June 4.

Philadelphia Food Fair to Open Next Tuesday

The 46th annual Philadelphia Food Fair and Better Homes' Exposition, with a greater number and variety of exhibits than in many years past and anticipating a patronage exceeding the record of 330,000 set up last fall, opens in Commercial Museum next Tuesday, October 13. The closing date is October 23.

The doors open at 7 o'clock on the evening of the first day. From then on the fair hours are 2 in the afternoon until 10.30 at night, Sunday excepted.

This year, the number of Food Fair exhibitors exceeds 175. Virtually every manufacturer and distributor of food products, nationally as well as locally known, is on the display roster, which embraces not only the names of firms and organizations which have been associated with the Fair for many years, but a considerable number of companies new to the 1936 Fair.

Special features, designed for the instruction and entertainment of visitors, include the famous movie double contest in which groups of young girls and young men from Philadelphia and suburbs, who resemble a selected number of screen stars, compete for prizes totalling $500 in cash; a baking contest open to all housewives with daily afternoon cash awards of $10, $5 and $3; a cooking school sponsored by the Philadelphia Electric Co. and the Philadelphia Gas Works Co. with daily afternoon and evening drawings for food prizes and major appliance awards.

THE PROFESSORS AT THE PUMP

Working a pump handle up and down, and carrying heavy buckets of water made people realize the bother of drawing water from wells. Dissatisfied with this primitive method, a group of Swarthmore College professors, back in the 1880's, decided to band together to obtain a system of running water.

They found a small spring, erected a toy pumping station and laid several hundred feet of pipe to their dwellings. With so little equipment the professors took a most important step in the development of Suburban Philadelphia.

The new "running water" became very popular . . . neighbors begged to share its benefits. So in 1886—just 50 years ago—the Springfield Water Company was incorporated. As whole communities asked to participate in their water supply, the professors decided it was too much for men who had chosen the classroom as their field of achievement.

Today their Company has grown into a water supply system which serves some 73,000 families over a territory of 300 square miles—considerably more than twice the area of Philadelphia. With its increased size it can now insure an interlocking supply of water taken from the best sources available.
